The mathematical differential of the velocity curve  $f(x)$  against time, is the acceleration. That means if you plot the velocity curve against time and measure the slope of the curve  $a$  at a given point in time  $T$  you would have the acceleration at that time.

In physics, a force is any interaction that, when unopposed, will change the motion of an object. A force can cause an object with mass to change its velocity (which includes to begin moving from a state of rest), i.e., to accelerate. Force can also be described intuitively as a push or a pull. A force has both magnitude and direction, making it a vector quantity.

Unit 2: Physics and Motion This unit requires students to develop a mathematical understanding of the motion of objects. Mathematical concepts of Speed and Velocity, Acceleration, Force, Gravitational Potential Energy, and Kinetic Energy are covered, along with Newtons three laws of Motion.
